Fulfilling a promise made the customers of Pennsylvania Power Company in 1935, L. B. Round, vice president and general manager of the company, announced today the filing of new low rates, resulting in an estimated reduction of $165,000. While the principal feature of the new filing is the substitution of the present immediate and objective rates with a new low uniform residence rate, other classes of service are also affected, it is announced. The new standard residence rate is the culmination of a series of rate reductions, part of a planned rate

HARRISBURG, June 27.—The Pennsylvania Power Company has filed a new tariff with the Public Utility Commission making annual net reductions of $168,000, effective July 1, the commission announced today.

The change affected 28,107 customers in Allegheny, Beaver, Butler, Lawrence and Mercer counties. The company's principal office is located in New Castle.

program instituted in 1930 with the object of attaining a simplified and uniform rate for all residence customers of the company. At that time the company consisted of the New Castle, Sharon and Greenville districts, the Peoples Power Company, the Ellwood City Hydroelectric Company and the Harmony Electric Company. Separate rate tariffs were in effect for each of these areas, and wide differences in the residential rate prevailed.

Standardizing Process
Gradually a process of standardizing and reducing the rates was undergone, with particular emphasis on the promotional phase of rate making. By 1935 considerable progress was made, and in that year, through the filing of the so-called "objective" rate plan which had

PA NEWC OBSERVES

On South Ray street, a young robin, learning to fly, a few days ago, got into the middle of the street. John Clark, fireman at the Ray street department, desiring to save the bird from being killed by the automobile traffic, rushed to the street to pick up the bird. While trying to catch it, the parent birds attacked him about the head, and Mr. Clark soon retreated, got on his hat. He returned, secured the youngster, and took it to a place of safety, back of the fire station, still being followed by the squawking parents.

Monday afternoon, a boy riding a bicycle, with a boy passenger, and a good sized "chunk" of ice wrapped in burlap, tied to the handle bars, was waiting at the corner of South Mill and Washington streets for the stop light to change to green and "go".

Just one week from today and the nation will be observing the Fourth of July once again. With the new regulations banning fireworks in this state, the observance will probably be rather unusual in

Plan For Annual Pet Parade Friday

New Castle will see its second annual "pet parade" on Friday afternoon, June 30, it was announced today by the New Castle Recreational Educational Council, the organization which will sponsor it.

Alfred H. Owens has been named general chairman of the parade committee. A group of citizens will assist. Judges of the pets will be prominent community leaders.

Inviting youngsters from all over the city to participate, General Chairman Owens said:

"The parade will leave Rosena field at 2:30 in the afternoon. The parade route will be South Jefferson, along East Washington to Water Street and down Water to South Mill and over the Neshannock creek bridge and into the field again."

Prizes will be awarded winners and each participant will receive a theatre pass, Owens said.

Mrs. Harry L. Sturdevant is president of the Recreational Education group. That organization sponsored last summer's parade.

Testimonial Dinner Plans Are Complete

It begins to appear that a lot of people are not going to be able to get tickets to the testimonial dinner to the Pennsylvania Power Company on the night of June 29. The absolute limit on places has been set at 1500 and Monday night at the meeting of the general committee 1250 were gone with a number of members not reporting.

At the meeting General Chairman William A. Francis called for reports of the various committees and from the reports it was indicated that little remains to be done in the way of arrangements.

The reception committee and the distinguished guest committee are prepared to handle their work on the night of the dinner, the program (Continued On Page Two)

OFFICER DIES IN

(International News Service)
PITTSBURGH, June 27.—Interrupting an East Liberty market holdup, a city patrolman was fatally wounded today in a gun battle with two negroes, one of whom was captured.

Patrolman Edward Conway died in Pittsburgh hospital shortly after being admitted. He had been shot in the neck, right shoulder and left side. The latter wound apparently caused his death.

According to reports, Conway and radio patrolman Thomas Cox were cruising in East Liberty when the negroes entered the J. P. Saunders market, a wholesale butter and egg store. The patrolmen, suspicious followed them.

They broke in on the pickup and tried to capture the gunmen. Witnesses said several shots were fired and Conway fell. Patrolman Cox grabbed one bandit as the other fled.

A store clerk fired at the fleeing man and may have wounded him, police said.

LONDON, June 27.—Because of the admitted possibility of new German aggression, Great Britain bowed to Russia's demands and agreed to name Finland, Estonia and Latvia in direct guarantees of independence.

Indignation against Japan's action in Tientsin and other parts of China ran high in official quarters here, yet in delivering the last full measure of capitulation to the Soviet Union, Great Britain showed that her main immediate concern is the Reich, and not the Oriental end of the Rome-Berlin-Tokyo axis.

Desperate Move Is Being

BATON ROUGE, La., June 27.—Richard Webster Leche faded into the twilight of his meteoric political career today as Earl K. Long took up Louisiana's gubernatorial reins in a desperate move to save the incredible empire built by the late Huey P. Long.

After a day of bickering and lengthy conferences, Leche resigned by proclamation last night and ten minutes later Earl, brother of Huey, was administered the oath of office by Supreme Court Justice John R. Land, Sr.

Long's assumption of power in no way lessened the gravity of investigation into charges of WPA corruption and financial irregularities at Louisiana State University. His taking the oath, however, did go a long way in quelling an uprising which threatened to split the machine wide apart.

Charges Filed

Even at the moment Long was taking the oath of office, Baton Rouge city police were filing charges against J. Emory Adams, former L. S. U. bookshop manager and confidant of Dr. James Monroe (Continued On Page Two)

Louis B. Round, Dr. W. F. Jackson, and former Troop Commander John B. Brettell, returned Monday afternoon from Camp Wood at Annville, Pa., after spending the week end with the troop and viewing the activities at camp.

They found the Troop in splendid condition, and only the usual number of "sick, lame and lazy" with no real casualties.

Major Edward J. Albert, squadron commander, told the members of the Civilian Sponsoring Committee that he is more than pleased with the splendid manner in which the Troop has been conducting itself in the various drill activities.

Witness Final Review

Saturday morning, the local men were privileged to witness the final review of General Edward C. Shannon, who is retiring as commander of the Pennsylvania National Guard the event being a colorful and impressive maneuver.

The state staff was quartered just across from the regiment, and the local men came in close contact with their superiors.

Lieut. Ray Atkinson has won considerable fame for his attachment for machine guns, which enables the guns to be fired with blank ammunition, and which is constructed from a few pieces of gas pipe at a cost of nine cents.

Boxes Making Record

The troop boxes are making a splendid record, the local men are assured, and are virtually assured of bringing home several cups in the boxing matches. Perrotta, Mac Pollock and Walzer showing up splendidly.

The Troop is scheduled to break camp on Friday evening and will arrive back in New Castle about 7 o'clock Saturday morning.

There were a great many visitors from New Castle at camp on Sunday all of whom were taken care of at the Troop mess, which is proving enjoyable and palatable, and the men are pleased with the efforts of Mess Sergeant Foster.

WASHINGTON, June 27.—An emergency program was drafted in congress today to prevent 3,000,000 WPA workers from being stricken off relief rolls in event that the $1,735,000 relief bill is not passed by Friday midnight—the end of the current fiscal year.

Plans also were made to give many other government departments emergency funds to tide them over in event other appropriation bills, including the record-breaking agricultural bill, are bogged down.

With only three days to go before the fiscal year deadline, fears had been expressed that the relief bill, now before the senate, could not be passed in time to replenish WPA coffers.

HONG KONG, June 27—Great Britain today speedily rejected a Japanese request that British and American shipping and national be evacuated from the ports of Foochow and Wenchow, latest objectives of Japan's drive in China, by noon Thursday.

Any attempts to enter Foochow and Wenchow after that time might be dangerous, the Japanese explained, and the Japanese navy will not assume responsibility for any consequences.

Almost as soon as it was received,

British naval and merchant marine authorities in Shanghai turned down the Japanese demand.

Soldiers Land

Japanese bluejackets and soldiers, quickly followed up the capture of Swatow, landed at Foochow early today, it was reported here.

Another report said the Japanese had taken Wenchow, bringing close to completion the redoubled offense by Japan to choke off avenues through which Generalissimo

Chiang Kai-Shek has been receiving military supplies from abroad.

While there were no American warships at either Foochow and

Wenchow, and no United States merchant ships were reported at either of the towns, the United States was expected to join Britain in the latter's speedy rejection of Japan's "suggestion" that foreigners be evacuated.

The ceremony was held at the Primitive Methodist church. She carried a large bouquet of Madonna lilies and the attire was completed with a beautiful string of pearls.

The event was attended by guests from the services and friends and relatives at an altar, prettily arranged with ferns and choice flowers. Mrs. Catherine MacKenzie, sister-in-law of the bride, played appropriate nuptial selections on the organ, preceding and during the ceremony. Harold MacKenzie, brother of the bride, soloist, sang, "Oh, Promise Me," "I Love You Truly" and "Because."

The bride, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. E. MacKenzie, East Reynolds street, was given in marriage by her father. The groom is the son of Mrs. Mary Smith, of Pittsburgh.

Miss Margaret Lewis was the only attendant and wore a pink net gown with white accessories.

James Hawthorne, of Pittsburgh, served the groom as best man.

Following a brief reception period, the couple left by motor to New York and an extensive journey through New England. For her traveling costume, the bride chose a colorful print with a white redingote and white accompaniments.

Mrs. Smith is a graduate of the local high school with the class of 35 and the groom is employed by the Homestead Steel Works. Upon their return, the couple will reside in Lincoln Place, Pa.

SOLDIER FOR FIFTY YEARS

MAJOR GENERAL EDWARD C. SHANNON, one of Pennsylvania's best known soldiers, took his last salute as head of the Pennsylvania National Guard and has retired to civilian life.

The retirement ends an outstanding military career and removes from the National Guard one of its most able leaders. His successor is expected to be named by Governor James.

General Shannon was a man up from the ranks who won his high place in the military through ability and bravery.

He entered the army as a buck private in 1889. He rose to the command of his company in Puerto Rico during the Spanish-American War. In 1916 he was a colonel leading a regiment in the Mexican border campaign.

When the United States entered the World War, the Pennsylvanian participated as commander of the One Hundred and Eleventh Infantry in France. It was in this position that he won international fame with the nickname "Two-Yard Shannon." The name was in tribute to his refusal to stay at headquarters behind the lines. Instead he risked his life in the front lines.

The ability of General Shannon was recognized when military rules were suspended to allow him to serve five years beyond the retirement age of 64. He leaves his command on his 69th birthday with the thanks of not only his state but the entire nation for a job well done in his 50 years as a soldier.

ENDURING UNCLE DAN

At eighty-nine, Dan Beard serenely avoids the fog of legend. He is tangible and visible, which the oracle of mythology was not; and mysticism is no part of him. His sense of reality is enduring because he is both historic and contemporaneous.

Consequently when, on his birthday, he declared that "My old eyes see the same signs that prevailed before, and there is no doubt that this country will come out of this depression within a year or two at most," his optimism, though typical, may not need to be regarded as something merely casual. It is as lasting as Uncle Dan himself, still the most buoyant of Boy Scouts and one by whom some classic slumps in the land were taken in stride.

Founder of the Scout movement here, and acknowledged inspirer of General Baden Powell, who admitted that he had "cribbed" the basis of the movement from Beard's original activities, this patron saint of boyhood holds a unique place in the American scene. He will be around for a long time, of course.

Parties shift, budgets shrink or swell, Europe seethes or simmers. Dan Beard is an institution—one of the very finest the country is fortunate enough to possess.

"FINISH" FOR LOU GEHRIG

No greater lesson in true sportsmanship could be offered to American youth than that given by Lou Gehrig, the great New York Yankee baseball star, who has reached the end of his long career on the diamond.

May Day found Gehrig playing his 2130th consecutive baseball game in the major leagues. The next day he bunched himself "for the good of the team." His batting average, .379 for his life-time with the Yanks, had slipped to .43. He was not the Gehrig of old and he knew it.

The decision was delivered a few days since at the Mayo Clinic in Rochester, Minn. Lou was pronounced a victim of amyotrophic lateral sclerosis, a type of illness described as involving the "motor pathways and cells of the central nervous system" and in lay terms is known as a form of chronic infantile paralysis. Henceforth, he was ordered to avoid muscular exertion.

When President Barrow of the Yankees summoned reporters to the Yankee clubhouse the other day to make this announcement, it was a tragic moment. Only Gehrig smiled. He said:

"If this is my finish, I'll take it!"

Nothing in Lou Gehrig's long career in the great American game becomes him like the courageous manner in which he left it. But it cannot be his finish. Years ago he earned his place among the immortals of baseball. As long as baseball remains the great national pastime, he will retain that place and be remembered for his courage and his true sportsmanship.

CONVICTION IN THE HIGHWAY PAY SCANDAL

The conviction of former Secretary of Highways Roy E. Brownmiller on charges of misconduct in office applies the finishing touches to one of the worst scandals in the recent history of the State, the notorious Luzerne county payroll fraud.

Of all the doings and misdoings of the last Democratic Administration that have had their sequel in court action, the Brownmiller case has been one of the most startling because of the flagrantly wholesale vote-buying that is the basis of the accusation.

It was charged that prior to the State election last fall the highway funds in Luzerne county were arbitrarily boosted by more than $1,000,000; that whereas $600,000 had been considered an adequate highway force in the county, the payroll was suddenly increased to 16,000 on the eve of the election.

A huge campaign fund consisting of State money was lavished upon voters with the palpable purpose of influencing their vote. Men on relief, men with other jobs were handed "work cards" exchangeable for cash. Whether any work was performed by these newly-employed thousands was apparently the least consideration; to gain their support for the Democratic ticket in a county that was regarded as a crucial one was the main reason for the sudden pre-election burst of generosity on part of the Highway Department.

In his defense, Brownmiller insisted that he had countenanced nothing improper and had even ordered an investigation when he heard of payroll padding in Luzerne. He presented the lame excuse of unfamiliarity with the workings of the Department which he headed. "I am a layman," he kept repeating, "not an engineer."

Secretary Brownmiller was a political engineer and he administered the Highways Department on that basis. As head of the Department, the responsibility rests upon him for gross misuse of the State's funds for political purposes, and the jury trying him has placed responsibility where it belongs.—Philadelphia Inquirer.

Careful, brethren! Whom the gods would destroy, they first make mad at some tyrant across the seas.

Other animals don't need the ability to reason. Since they do nothing wicked, they needn't try to justify their behavior.

The Parent Problem

By Garry C. Myers, Ph. D.

CHANGE COLOR OF BLACK SHEEP

"Dear Dr. Myers: I have three boys, 13, 14 and 16. Two are still in the elementary school and the oldest is a freshman. My two younger boys are congenial and just live for one another. My oldest boy picks on them all the time, just tries to find fault with them. What affection they have had for him he has killed, and so they in turn have no use for him.

"He will not hold a conversation with anyone. If I ask him anything, he will perhaps answer me or maybe he won't say anything. If he does answer, it is very brief. He doesn't like school and has no hobby of any sort. If I talk to his teachers about his work, I am 'nosey.' He has two boy friends; he talks to them....

No Affection

"He shows no affection for any of the family. If I ask him to do anything about the house, he will grumble. He'll come home from school and throw his clothes on a chair and his books on a table and turn on the radio. About an hour of that, then he'll go outside somewhere and come in around supper time. After supper he and one of the other boys help me with the dishes, and out he goes for another hour or so, comes in and sits with head down and listens to the radio and goes to bed.

"My husband says he is lazy and will never amount to anything. But I'd never let him know what his Dad thinks of him.... I do so many things to make his home life pleasant but he doesn't seem to notice it....

My answer was about like this. I can see that you are trying hard to make your eldest son happier and more co-operative. But you will not get far so long as you place the blame on him.

In His Place

Try to put yourself in his place. He knows how his father feels toward him; words are not necessary. The younger brothers admire each other and hate him. Naturally, they conspire against him. He figures that they are loved and he is not. They get all the praise and he all the condemnation. No wonder he picks on them. Even your consideration for him he probably counts as pity rather than affection. No matter what you think, what he thinks is so for him.

Try to help him feel more worthwhile and get the younger brothers to respect his rights. Dad should be able to do most to help this lad, if Dad will change his attitude and try to win the son's comradeship. Then Dad will go places with him, attend games with him and have this son meet him now and then downtown for lunch.

The World AND THE Mud Puddles

THINGS HAPPEN

It never fails. The minute the heads of the family go off on a vacation and turn their backs on affairs at home, things start happening, and usually for the worst.

Does it make any difference if the family in question is a royal one? Not a particle! Let them take their eyes off the regular cares and duties of the home, and only heaven knows what scrapes the rest of the household will get into.

No sooner did King George and Queen Elizabeth get comfortably settled aboard the ship bringing them to North America, than the King's elder brother broke into the limelight with a world-wide broadcast favoring peace.

What's wrong with that? You'll have to ask the censors who refused to let the message be broadcast in England. They considered the event shocking and "appallingly bad taste."

No sooner did the flurry over the Duke's speech show signs of disappearing than Queen Mother Mary, riding in her automobile runs smack into another vehicle, and in the collision the royal motor car turns over.

With Queen Mary recovering from bruises and scratches and normally once again descending on the household, some wild man takes a shot in the direction of the wife of the King's younger brother.

As the King and Queen made their round of garden parties, teas and dinners in Washington last week, trying to be convivial through the unending siege of greetings, handshakings, and answering remarks about the hot Washington weather, who could blame them if they showed a little eagerness and then a bad taste?

Midget Auto Race Proposal Still Up In Air; News Gets Praise

Members of the Junior Chamber of Commerce heard details of a midget auto racing project described at a regular meeting last night, but postponed until later their decision to accept or turn down sponsorship of the races.

President John P. Brinton and his directors will give further study to the plan which calls for a series of midget auto runs at the New Castle Field club this summer. The first would be July 14.

Paul G. Dingledy, assistant to the vice president and general manager of Pennsylvania Power company personally extended to the junior chamber last night an invitation to inspect the company's new West Pittsburgh power plant this week.

President Brinton, presiding, announced a revised group of committee chairmen who will head up various organization activities this year.

By a unanimous vote, the members, at the suggestion of Acting Secretary L. J. "Odey" Foster, voiced high praise of the New Castle News for its leadership in a "Buy in New Castle" campaign. The expression warmly congratulated the paper for its "Buy in New Castle" liners.

Approached by the Youngstown Junior Chamber of Commerce to join in a combine next spring with the Youngstown, Sharon and Warren, O. junior chambers to advocate the adoption in those localities of Daylight Saving Time, the local members unanimously voted to remain completely out of such a movement. The New Castle group will explain to the Youngstown group that it will abide by the public's expression in a poll it recently conducted. In that vote Eastern Standard Time won out by a two-to-one margin.

The junior chamber met in The Castleton.

98 SOVIET PLANES BROUGHT DOWN

of more than 98 planes for the Soviet and Outer Mongolian air force started auspiciously for the Japanese air force, which had received information of a planned raid on Manchukuo territory to bomb important points.

Over 200 Soviet Planes

The Japanese air force challenged the raiders and dealt them a heavy blow. More than 200 Soviet and Outer Mongolian planes had massed at the Tamsk and Madat air fields in preparation for a raid on Manchukuo at dawn.

Simultaneously, Japanese bombers took off from their base and attacked Tamsk to destroy the Outer Mongolian air base there.

It is our trust that this crushing blow to the Soviet and Outer Mongolian air force will deter from further provocations against Manchukuo.

(Japanese and Soviet troops engaged in pitched battles for several days over a disputed hill, Chang-kufeng, on the ill-defined Siberian-Manchukuo border. The battle, which threatened for a time to be a minor Russo-Japanese war, and to explode the Russo-Japanese powder keg which so many previous border incidents failed to set off, began when Japanese military officers decided to fortify Chang-kufeng hill. Russians resisted, artillery boomed, and in the end the Japanese withdrew as a boundary commission was put to work.)

Foreign military attaches in Japan reported today that Japan's best pilots and equipment have been moved into Manchukuo from China proper in the last few months.

FIRST SETTLERS IN NEW CASTLE

John Carlyle Stewart, two brothers-in-law, John and Hugh Wood, and John McWhorter, all from New Castle, Del., came together in the early season of 1798, and located on the ground where New Castle now stands. This portion of the country was mostly surveyed into what were known as "donation lands," set apart for use of the soldiers of Pennsylvania who served in the American army during the war of the Revolution.

The line between the original counties of Beaver and Mercer was the boundary between the first and second "donation" districts. South of this line was the first, and north of it the second district.

The original town plot, comprising about 50 acres, was laid out by Stewart in April, 1798, as appears by the records of Mercer county. At that time the territory was within the limits of Allegheny county, which extended northward to the lake.

Lands in and around New Castle had been surveyed into what were known as "warrant" or "donation" tracts. The former supposed to contain an average of 400 acres to each tract, and the latter (which were surveyed to accommodate the soldiers of the Pennsylvania line, who served during the Revolution) into tracts of 200, 250, 300 and 500 acres.

Stewart owned all the "vacancy" lying between the Shenango river and Neshannock creek, and beyond, approximately 400 acres. That portion lying west of Shenango river, 117 acres and 38 poles (West New Castle), was taken by Cornelius Hendrickson. Lot No. 89, lying a little northwest, was taken by Joseph and Samuel Cox. Lot No. 90, immediately east of Cox, and running across the river, was taken by Samuel McCleary. Lot No. 1953, lying next east of McCleary, by Crawford White. Lot No. 1951, next east of Crawford White, was taken by Henry Falls. The "vacancy" occupied by Stewart was south of White's and Falls' land.

It is very probable that John Carlyle Stewart erected the first cabin in New Castle, though Joseph Townsend, Jr., who came soon after, is sometimes credited with the honor.

The ancestors of Judge Joseph Cunningham settled in Wayne township in 1796. James W. Cunningham, son of the judge, was county treasurer, and the father of Capt. Joseph V. Cunningham, who organized Co. B of the 16th P. V. I., and with his company went to Porto Rico for one year. He also organized Co. L of the 42nd United States Volunteer Infantry which company served in the Philippines for two years. The Captain later organized Troop F of the 103rd Pennsylvania Cavalry, which served on the Mexican border campaign, and while there was promoted to major. His sole ambition was to persuade the state to build an armory here, and in 1936 his wish was fulfilled, when the cornerstone of the Joseph V. Cunningham Memorial Armory was laid and will be dedicated this summer. In 1903 he was elected district attorney of Lawrence county. He is survived by his wife, Mrs. Jessie Westlake Cunningham, who made the first flag of Troop F while the company was encamped at Gettysburg for the first time in 1904 and known as the "baby troop" that year.

Jack L. Holsinger, deputy county treasurer, returned to duty Monday after a 60 days' illness and about half the morning was taken up in congratulations. Mr. Holsinger looks well, and is apparently none the worst for his illness.

Independent candidates are required to name a committee of
from three to five voters.

Prospective candidates should accept the rules covering the game they are now entering. One of them came in Monday with a petition all nicely filled out. The only trouble was first, he was a candidate on both Republican and Democratic tickets, and secondly, he had secured his signatures on June 22.

He was told to make up his mind what ticket he favored, and to get his signatures again, June 24 being the first day to secure them.

Some changes are seen in the recent election law passed by the 1939 session of the General Assembly.

Voters must now change their party registration 30 days before the election instead of 15 as heretofore provided.

The public utility companies are relieved of the necessity of notifying the registration office of removals.

To change a registration from city to county or vice versa it is now unnecessary to appear in person, a card doing the trick.

The counsel for the board of elections, which is the county solicitor, must now sit with the board on election days from 7 to 12 noon, from 2 to 5:30 and from 7 to 10
p. m. This is to rule on questions that arise at the polls.

Independent candidates are required to name a committee of
from three to five voters.

In the past week 18 Democrats changed over to Republican, two Republicans changed to Democrats, 29 new voters registered Republican and nine registered Democratic.

A meeting of the bar association was called Monday afternoon by Judge W. Walter Braham to discuss the changes in practice, as set down by the state supreme court.

During the month of July Judge
Thomas W. Dickey will be both a Lawrence and Mercer county judge.

By order of the state supreme court he is to handle any matters that arise in Mercer county during Judge Rowley's absence.

Quite a few petitions have gone out of the office of Will A. Eakin, chief clerk to the county commissioners. The rush is on and for the next two weeks there will be plenty of them to get out.

Inside Germany's Touted Siegfried Line

Here are the latest pictures taken of Germany's highly-touted Siegfried Line, the barrier which the Nazis have erected facing the Maginot Line of France. Finishing touches are being rushed at same time as repair work, necessitated by recent floods which inundated part of the system. Meanwhile Germany is reported moving the first units of a force of 100,000 men into the fortifications, including the Condor Legion, which fought in the Spanish war, as a million and a half men start summer maneuvers. German soldiers are seen entering the steel and concrete fortress (upper left). At lower left, two soldiers are shown in one of the washrooms. Note the ventilation system at right which would filter air in event of gas attack. ## Senate's Vote Proves Setback To President

By ROBERT A. MCGILL
International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, June 27.—President Roosevelt suffered one of the major defeats of his two terms in office Monday afternoon when the senate voted, 47 to 31, to deny him the power to further devalue the dollar.

It was a telling victory for Senator Carter Glass (D) Virginia and members of the conservative Democratic bloc in congress.

The vote came on an amendment offered by Senator Adams (D) Colorado, a lieutenant of the elderly Glass who has been ill, to terminate the president's emergency devaluation authority at the end of this month.

This setback was followed immediately by another when the senate voted, 48 to 30, to approve a government price of 77.57 cents an ounce for domestic silver. The Treasury department had established a price of 64.64 cents an ounce.

First Recall Of Power

With the vote to restrict the president's authority over the nation's money system, congress moved for the first time to strip Mr. Roosevelt of the broad emergency powers granted him at the outset of the new deal.

With the senate in a rebellious frame of mind, the vote to curb the president's authority in controlling the value of the dollar came in the midst of a filibuster.

President Roosevelt devalued the dollar in one of his most important actions upon taking office. Devaluation came in the famous first hundred days of the New Deal. Extension of the power to devalue the dollar had been asked by both the president and his leading fiscal advisers.

End Filibuster

The senate's upset votes on devaluation and silver ended the determined filibuster by silver state senators which has tied up the monetary bill for more than a week. Quick approval of other features of the two-billion-dollar exchange stabilization fund was anticipated.

Senator Glass, who engineered much of the floor fighting against the president's powers, from a sick bed in a downtown hotel, was on the floor when the vote was taken, and shouted a loud "aye" to Adams' amendment.

Today's action did not finally conclude either the silver or the devaluation fight for congress.

The House passed the bill with the provision continuing the devaluation powers in it, and did not take any action on silver. Both these items will be in conflict when senate and house conferees get the bill for the purpose of ironing out differences between senate and house versions of the legislation.

Dr. Dafoe's Column
On The Quintuplets
And The Care
Of Your Children

Copyright 1938, King Features Syndicate, Inc.

FREQUENT HEAD COLDS MAY SIGNIFY PRESENCE OF RHEUMATIC FEVER

Far too many children develop serious heart ailments because their parents dismiss as "growing pains" the aches in the joints that warn of rheumatic fever. In fact, I have no hesitation whatever in saying that if every child who complains of pain in the limbs were examined without delay, there would be a tremendous reduction in the number of semi-invalid people who go to early graves as the result of childhood rheumatism.

Following the pains in the joints, the second early sign of rheumatic fever is the repeated occurrence of upper respiratory infections; that is, head colds and sore throats. The trouble is that even this symptom is too often ignored. Parents don't seem to realize that when one child in the family develops many more colds than the others, there is some definite reason which should be discovered without delay.

Usually a doctor's examination of the children will show that one has a chronic infection of the throat while the others have not. In most cases, the infection is in the tonsils or adenoid tissue at the back of the throat. Removal of these diseased tissues results in a decrease in the number and the severity of colds. The truth of this statement has been proven by the way the Quintuplets reacted when we took their tonsils and adenoids out last fall. I think our experience with them proves beyond a doubt the value of having tonsils removed, if they are diseased. Remember, I don't believe in removing tonsils wholesale. I think there should be absolute proof that they are diseased before an operation is performed.

Occasionally you will find a child who has no more colds than his brothers and sisters; but it will be noticed that when he takes a cold, it is a lot more severe and lasts longer than is the case with the others. This child should be examined, too, and his trouble located.

The old story that tonsils should not be removed until the child is three years old is no longer supported by surgeons and doctors. Neither is the story that you must wait until spring or summer to have them out. Of course, if there is an acute infection in the throat or if the tonsils are swollen and inflamed, it is not the right time to have the organs removed. As soon as the inflammation is removed, however, the tonsils should come out. Leaving infected tonsils in the throat when they should be taken out subjects the child unnecessarily to the danger of chronic heart disease.

This was one thing we watched like hawks when we knew the Quintuplets' tonsils were diseased. We couldn't operate as soon as we wanted because there was still inflammation and infection in the throats. We had to wait for the children to get into shape. We didn't want to have any of them develop a heart ailment.

I don't mind telling you that when those tonsils were out and the children fully recovered from the operation, I felt an enormous sense of relief. It was just as though a huge weight had been taken off my back.

An ancient Italian game, Boccie, as played by Seventh Ward residents, is quite a popular diversion. On the property of the Christopher Columbus society, S. Liberty street, a complete and well outfitted court may be found.

At this court, Boccie players may be seen at almost any hour during the day and evening.

This court was recently rebuilt and many improvements made. Lights were erected and night playing is popular. The Columbus society has a Boccie team that has been making quite a good record for itself by defeating many of the local and out-of-town teams.

This game is played with round wooden balls. A small ball is first thrown down along the court and then the players toss larger balls and try to come as near to the small object as possible.

Van Allsburg Relief Bill Is Signed By Governor James

Controversial Bill Now Law

Makes Numerous Changes In Methods Of Taking Care Of Relief

RELIEF LISTS ARE OPEN TO PUBLIC

By RAYMOND WILCOVE
International News Service Staff Correspondent

HARRISBURG, June 27.—Gov. Arthur H. James today was vested with unlimited authority to dismiss relief employees, following the signing of the Van Allsburg Relief Bill, one of the most controversial measures of the 1939 Legislature.

It was the attempt to vest in the county relief boards the authority to dismiss some 4,000 relief employees that brought on a fight which did not subside until the provision was stricken out.

In its place the governor was given authority to dismiss "for the good of the service" employees of both county boards and central and district offices of the Public Assistance Department, approximating 6,900 in all.

Far-reaching Features

Although the "Civil Service Ripper" was eliminated—so far as the county boards were concerned, although they retained authority to recommend dismissals to the governor—the act still contains many far-reaching features.

Foremost among them is the authority vested in the 67 county boards to dismiss without cause their executive directors. New appointees must be chosen from certified lists provided by the Public Assistance Department of applicants who have qualified for appointment through an unassisted examination.

The law bars from relief all aliens except those who have filed by January 1, 1938, declarations of intention to become citizens and who have resided in the state for two years preceding the date of their application for relief.

The law also increases from one to two years the residence requirement for citizens.

Relief Lists Open

All relief lists are thrown open for inspection and examination during office hours during which any taxpayer may ascertain at county board headquarters the names, addresses and amount of assistance received by relief recipients.

The county boards are authorized to appoint local citizens' committees in the various communities of their counties to check the eligibility of relief recipients and to stimulate local employment. Upon the petition of 50 residents of a community, the creation of such a committee is made mandatory.

Relief recipients who refuse employment would be investigated by labor review committees composed of citizens who would pass on their eligibility.

In order to encourage a relief recipient to accept part-time employment, the act provides that when such work is terminated he may return to the relief rolls.

In an attempt to check "chiseling" the act authorizes county boards to engage the services of commercial credit rating agencies to check the eligibility of relief recipients.

Political activity by relief employees is made a misdemeanor, punishable by up to six months in jail and $100 fine. The act goes into immediate effect.

New Process To Hasten GrowthScientist Produces Green Food In Cabinets Without Use Of SunCHEMICAL FOOD
SPEEDS GROWING

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, June 27.—One acre of land, when properly equipped, can produce enough green food to equal the yield of 1,760 acres of meadowland, according to A. Cotton of London.

This acre of land would be equipped with Greenfood cabinets designed to raise green food from seed in six days without soil or sunlight. The process was developed in England by H. B. Lund and the American and Canadian rights are owned by Cotton.

He is demonstrating the cabinet at the Museum of Science and Industry here and also at the New Jersey State Experimental Station at Suffield.

Oats, corn, wheat, barley, rye and other grains are used in the cabinet, Cotton said. The seed is soaked for several hours, then placed in the lower tray of the cabinet. This tray is moved up the second day and a new supply of oats placed in the lower tray. On the sixth day, the original trap reaches the top of the cabinet and is exposed to the light (electric) for the first time. It is removed on the seventh day, with the sprouts a lush green and six inches high.

The entire product of the tray, the seeds, roots and sprouts, are then fed to animals.

A chemical and mineral formula is sprayed over the mixture once a day, substituting for soil.

Control Temperature

Temperature in the cabinet is controlled by electricity and is kept at 60 degrees for oats, wheat and barley, and 65 degrees for corn. Hot water pipes may be used instead of electricity if necessary.

"We tested the process on the farm of J. W. Alsop of Avon, Conn.," Cotton said. "Mr. Alsop had a full sized cabinet of 36 trays and he ran it through the winter. He took 12 dairy cows from his herd and tested them for their yield of milk for a month. He then fed the sprouted oats from the cabinet for two months, and switched back to the original ration."

"Alsop found that he got a 10.5 percent greater yield of milk during the period the oats were fed," Cotton said. "He also found that the butterfat content was slightly higher and the milk a better color. The process also improved the general condition of the cows, especially in regard to breeding."

SPARROW WAGES
GRIM BATTLE WITH
AUTO BUMPER

(International News Service)

Klamath Falls, Ore.—Main point of interest in Klamath Falls for several days was an angry sparrow who had singled out a particular car to vent its spite.

For days the sparrow battled its own image in the polished surface of an automobile bumper guard parked in front of the newspaper office. This tray is moved up the second day and a new supply of oats placed in the lower tray. On the sixth day, the original trap reaches the top of the cabinet and is exposed to the light (electric) for the first time. It is removed on the seventh day, with the sprouts a lush green and six inches high.

The bird ignored other bumper guards and bright spots that offered a reflection equally clear. When the car was driven away, the bird would patiently wait for its return and resume its futile battle. The bird was saved further useless struggle when the owner of the car decided to park it in another place down the street.

OH, BOY! WHAT FUN—TEARING UP A BRICK STREET.

Amazed grownups of South Bend, Ind., gasped and then phoned police when they saw these youngsters blithely ripping up the bricks with which this street, above, is paved, and carrying them away. The grownups were all the more amazed when the police came and encouraged the youthful street demolishers. Investigation disclosed that the South Bend park department had blockaded the street, preparatory to tearing it up and converting the area into a playground. Delay irked the youngsters so they took matters in their own hands. Even the park department is happy—it isn't costing a cent.

Night Game Goes To Athletics, Detroit Tigers Start To Climb In Race

AVERILL HELPS TIGERS TO WIN

(International News Service) NEW YORK, June 27.—When Outfielder Earl Averill recently was shunted to the Detroit Tigers by the Cleveland Indians his first observation on the deal was that the Tigers would begin to move up in the American League pennant race, and his powers as a prophet began to ring true today.

Detroit now stands in third place only 2½ games behind the second place Boston Red Sox, while the Indians have slipped to fourth place as a result of an encounter between the Tigers and Indians yesterday in which Averill played a leading role. Making his first appearance against his former mates, he cracked out three hits, including a double, and drove in two runs to help pile up a 11 to 2 victory for Detroit.

YANKEES LOSE

In a night game at Philadelphia, the New York Yankees ran into the four-hit pitching of Henry Pippen and lost to the Athletics by 3 to 2. Bump Hadley being on the mound for the champions, whose lead was trimmed to 12 games over the Red Sox. The latter turned back the Washington Senators 3 to 0, on the neat seven-hit hurling of Lefty Grove.

The three American League contests were the only ones played yesterday, with the entire National League idle as the clubs travelled, the easterners returning to their own sector after a swing through the west.

HERE AND THERE IN SPORTS' LAND

All managers and officials of the City Softball league are asked to be present at the special meeting to be held at the "Y" tonight at 7:30 o'clock. Following the regular meeting conducted by President Rocco P. Viggiano, the league protests that have accumulated will be taken up for discussion.

All managers, officials and umpires of the disputed plays are asked to be present. The Board of Commissioners are also requested to be at the meeting to hear and render decisions on the protests.

Plans for the second half of the City Softball league season will be discussed and acted upon tonight. The second-half starts in July.

Anderson Hurls Slovaks To Win

Defeat K. Pulaski 6-3 At Flats Field, Need One More Victory To Cinch Title

Leroy Anderson, ace of the Slovak pitching staff, literally pitched the Slovaks into the first half championship in the city baseball league last night, at least he assured them a tie for the first half crown, by defeating the K. Pulaski team 6 to 3 before 2,000 fans at the Flats field.

The Slovaks, under Manager Steve "Fats" Gonda, scored all of their runs in the first inning off of Wilson on six hits, a base on balls and a sacrifice hit. After the first inning "Vander Meer" Wilson held the Slovaks in check. The Pulaskis got all of their runs off Anderson in the fifth frame, and thereafter could not bunch their hits.

Aiding Anderson to his important victory was "Alabama" Kirol and "Pop" Adams with sparkling plays in the field, and "Red" Wrona and "Dugout" Diuganski with their trusty bats.

Tonight the Slovaks can cinch the first half with a win over the Columbus club at the Mahonington field. They hope to take. They were the 1937 and 1938 champs.

Civics At Cedar Street

The other fine game on the card for tonight will be the Union Civics at the Cedar Street Field to oppose the Lawrence Indies. The Indies still have a chance for the first-half, providing the Slovaks lose tonight and will send either Majocha or Savage to the hill, to oppose Joe Smith the Union Civics ace hurler.

Manager Zidow wants to win this game badly and will use every ounce of strength that the Indies have available to upset the Unions. The Indies and Slovaks are slated to meet Thursday at the Cedar Street field.

Perita Outpitches Huston And Picato In 8 To 3 Win At Colonial Field

The Columbus Club remained in a mathematical position to tie the Slovak club for the first half title in the City Baseball League last night at Colonial field by taking the measure of the St. Josephs team 8 to 3. This was a postponed game.

Perita did the Columbus club pitching and gave up but six hits. The Columbus club combusted Huston and Picato for 13 hits. Heavy hitters were Picarro, Rainey and Zarrilla for the Mahoningtonians. Ducky Guinaugh did the best hitting for the Saints.

Score by innings: R. H. E. Columbus . . . . . 401 210 0-8 13 2 St. Josephs . . . . . 000 102 0-3 6 2

Batteries: Columbus Club—Perita and Miron. St. Josephs—Huston, Picato and W. McGary.

Brent Defeats Red Sox 8 To 6

The Brent baseball team defeated the newly organized New Castle Red Sox last night at the Brent Field, 8 to 6. Dutch Updegraff did the pitching for the locals and only permitted five hits, but four errors back of him hurt. The Brentians used D. Grundy on the hill and he was touched for nine hits.

Brent had one big inning, the fifth, when they scored six of their runs. Updegraff whiffed five batters. Grundy six.

Tonight the Red Sox will play the Ryantown team of the city league at the Ryantown field at 6 o'clock. McMillen will likely do the Red Sox pitching.

Score by innings: R. H. E. Red Sox . . . . . 201 100 2-6 9 4

Batteries: Red Sox—Updegraff and Marvin; Brent—D. Grundy and Snow.

Leroy Anderson, ace of the Slovak pitching staff, literally pitched the Slovaks into the first half championship in the city baseball league last night, at least he assured them a tie for the first half crown, by defeating the K. Pulaski team 6 to 3 before 2,000 fans at the Flats field.

The Slovaks, under Manager Steve "Fats" Gonda, scored all of their runs in the first inning off of Wilson on six hits, a base on balls and a sacrifice hit. After the first inning "Vander Meer" Wilson held the Slovaks in check. The Pulaskis got all of their runs off Anderson in the fifth frame, and thereafter could not bunch their hits.

Aiding Anderson to his important victory was "Alabama" Kirol and "Pop" Adams with sparkling plays in the field, and "Red" Wrona and "Dugout" Diuganski with their trusty bats.

Tonight the Slovaks can cinch the first half with a win over the Columbus club at the Mahonington field. They hope to take. They were the 1937 and 1938 champs.

Civics At Cedar Street

The other fine game on the card for tonight will be the Union Civics at the Cedar Street Field to oppose the Lawrence Indies. The Indies still have a chance for the first-half, providing the Slovaks lose tonight and will send either Majocha or Savage to the hill, to oppose Joe Smith the Union Civics ace hurler.

Manager Zidow wants to win this game badly and will use every ounce of strength that the Indies have available to upset the Unions. The Indies and Slovaks are slated to meet Thursday at the Cedar Street field.

Perita Outpitches Huston And Picato In 8 To 3 Win At Colonial Field

The Columbus Club remained in a mathematical position to tie the Slovak club for the first half title in the City Baseball League last night at Colonial field by taking the measure of the St. Josephs team 8 to 3. This was a postponed game.

Perita did the Columbus club pitching and gave up but six hits. The Columbus club combusted Huston and Picato for 13 hits. Heavy hitters were Picarro, Rainey and Zarrilla for the Mahoningtonians. Ducky Guinaugh did the best hitting for the Saints.

The Brent baseball team defeated the newly organized New Castle Red Sox last night at the Brent Field, 8 to 6. Dutch Updegraff did the pitching for the locals and only permitted five hits, but four errors back of him hurt. The Brentians used D. Grundy on the hill and he was touched for nine hits.

Brent had one big inning, the fifth, when they scored six of their runs. Updegraff whiffed five batters. Grundy six.

Tonight the Red Sox will play the Ryantown team of the city league at the Ryantown field at 6 o'clock. McMillen will likely do the Red Sox pitching.

Market Again Off Fractions

Leaders Generally Limited To Fractional Losses, Rather Firm At Opening Today

By LESLIE GOULD
International News Service Financial Writer

NEW YORK, June 27.—The stock market lost further ground today, after firming momentarily at the opening. Leaders generally limited declines to fractions, but special issues lost 1 to 2 points.

There was little response to the surprising Washington developments, which saw senate turn down continuance of the president's power to devalue the dollar, while setting a price of 75.57 cents an ounce on domestic silver purchases.

The silver move brought a spurt in Sunshine Mining which was up well over a point.

Chrysler was up 1% at the opening, but later receded under last night's closing. Fractional gains in Bethlehem, U. S. Steel, Westinghouse Electric and Union Carbide also were converted into losses.

Philip Morris, McIntyre Mines, Johns-Manville and U. S. Gypsum each slipped more than a point. Eastman Kodak dropped 2 on top of yesterday's decline of 3.

The list met some support around noon, but was unable to show much of a recovery from morning lows.

Board Of Parole Bill Is Vetoed

Governor James In Vetoing Bill Says Legislators Forgot To Provide For Upkeep

SEVERAL OTHER
BILLS ARE SIGNED

(International News Service)
HARRISBURG, June 27.—Gov.
Arthur H. James today vetoed the Woodward bill establishing a Pennsylvania board of parole, pointing out that the legislature had failed to make an appropriation for the board's functioning.

The bill would have created an independent administrative board with exclusive powers to parole persons sentenced to any state or county prison for sentences of 1 to 2 years or more.

Several Bills Signed

At the same time, the governor signed the Trout bill banning "haul-away" truck trailers from Pennsylvania highways after Jan. 1, 1942. The legislature amended the act passed by the 1937 session which outlawed the huge trailers after this year and granted a two-year re-rieve to the "haul-aways."

A bill extending the powers and membership of the joint state government commission was signed by the chief executive. The bill included among the commission's duties that of suggesting ways and means of financing the state upon a
"more scientific and equitable basis."

Governor James vetoed a bill which would establish the third Saturday of August of each year as a legal holiday in Pennsylvania to commemorate the birth of Susan B.
Anthony, leader of the woman suffrage movement.

latter car failed to observe a stop sign, it is claimed.
